

Updated: 2019-09-04

International Conference on Confucianism, Buddhism, and Kantian Moral Theory

Date: 6-7 September 2019

Venue: Sungkyunkwan University, Seoul, Korea

Day 1: 6 September 2019 (Friday)

9:00-9:15	Opening Remarks by Dean Shin and Professor Ivanhoe
9:15-10:15	Session 1: Minghui Lee (Distinguished Research Fellow Institute of Chinese Literature and Philosophy, Academia Sinica) “Wang Yangming’s Doctrine of the Unity of Knowing and Acting in the Light of Kant’s Practical Philosophy”
10:15-11:15	Session 2: Justin Tiwald (San Francisco State University) “Dai Zhen on Morality, Relationships, and Shared Ends”
11:15-11:30	Short break
11:30-12:30	Session 3: Brad Cokelet (University of Kansas) “Unconditionally Good Practical Wisdom”
12:30-2:00	Lunch
2:00-3:00	Session 4: Christian Wenzel (National Taiwan University) “Determinism, Rigorism, and Hope in Kant”
3:00-3:15	Short break
3:15-4:15	Session 5: David Cumiskey (Bates College) “Buddhist and Kantian Conceptions of Self-Constitution”
4:15-4:30	Short break
4:30-5:30	Session 6: Kyla Ebels-Duggan (Northwestern University) “Love, Respect and the Value of Humanity”
5:30-7:00	Dinner

Day 2: 7 September 2019 (Saturday)

10:00-11:00	Session 7: Karen Stohr (Georgetown University) “Straightening Crooked Wood: Xunzi and Kant on Moral Improvement”
11:00-11:15	Short break
11:15-12:15	Session 8: Nicholas Bunnin (Oxford University) “A Moral Metaphysics and a Metaphysics of Morality: Xunzi and Kant”
12:15-2:00	Lunch
2:00-3:00	Session 9: Carol Rovane (Columbia University) “Self-Constitution Without Kantian Moral Implications”
3:00-3:15	Short break
3:15-4:15	Session 10: Halla Kim (Sogang University) “Kant and the Fate of the Four-Seven Debate”
4:15-4:30	Short break
4:30-5:30	Session 11: Jennifer Lockhart (Auburn University) “Impotence and Competing Principles: Two Practical Arguments for Postulating God’s Existence”
5:30-6:00	Brief Closing Remarks by Professor Ivanhoe, Group Photo
6:00-8:00	Dinner